PRESS RELEASE

Welborn Health Plans Selects Royal Health Care's Medical Management Application Software Capabilities

NEW YORK, New York – June 3, 2006 – Royal Health Care, LLC announced that Welborn Health Plans, a health maintenance organization managed by Evansville-based U.S. Healthcare Holdings (USHH), has purchased Royal Health Care's Medical Management Application (MMA) software to automate its utilization and case management programs. Royal's Medical Management Application (MMA) software is rapidly gaining market penetration and will facilitate managing care for Welborn's more than 25,000 health plan members.

According to Steven J. Bory, Chief Executive Officer, Royal Health Care, "the Medical Management Application (MMA) software enables Welborn to expand its successful chronic disease management programs and to offer innovative, preventive wellness programs to all of its members. Medical management is a key area in which technology can be a health plan's best ally for reducing costs. The MMA software is a highly functional tool that can help improve quality of care and engage members with value-added services that tighten the relationship between the health plan and the consumer."

This technology supports real-time, electronic communication among members, providers and health plan staff. Its functionality allows the implementation of programs that help members and providers better manage and coordinate health care, make smart lifestyle choices and, ultimately, lead healthier lives. "Our MMA software capabilities identify members with specific medical conditions for proactive treatment programs," said Dr. Raul Coronado, M.D., and Chief Medical Officer for Royal Health Care.

The Medical Management Application (MMA) is a single platform solution that is task driven and both date and time sensitive for automating and integrating utilization, case, disease and population management. Interfaced with claims and other core systems, this patient-centric solution provides complete health management coverage. The Medical Management Application (MMA) automates all aspects of care management, including: member identification, health risk assessment and evaluations; guideline-based care planning; member and provider correspondence; ongoing member monitoring and education; and reporting capabilities for a variety of constituents.
